

Christmas Gifts of Hope

Chickens

A Dozen Little Chicks

A dozen little chicks mean income and improved nutrition for a struggling family in rural Kenya. In a very short time, the chicks will grow into laying hens, providing fresh eggs for the family and income from the sale of extra eggs.

Your gift of $30 for a dozen little chicks provides improved health and life changing income for a woman and her family.

Water

Water for Life!

Lack of clean water is a daily problem in rural Kenya where women and their children walk miles every day to collect water for drinking and cooking. The water they find is often unclean and carries dangerous waterborne diseases. WEI women's groups in Kenya have found that harvesting rainwater in giant 10,000 liter water tanks is a simple way to solve this problem. A full tank is equivalent to 750 roundtrips to the water source!

Your gift helps provide a reliable source of clean, fresh water and frees up women to pursue income generating activities.

Education

Books That “Open Up the World”

In Aek Matio, a remote village in Northern Sumatra, Indonesia, WEI's provision of an educational resource center is “opening up the world” for the children and their parents.

Your gift of $25 will help fill the center with books, reference materials and newspapers giving the children and adults a glimpse of the world beyond their small village.

Protection From Child Trafficking

In Benin, attending school means more than an opportunity to escape poverty. It means protection from child trafficking, a very real threat to children in Benin.

Your gift of $50 or $75 to provide a year of schooling will give a bright young girl or boy freedom from the fear of slavery and the opportunity for a better life.

A Month at “La Universidad”

In the remote Ixil Triangle, few girls attend high school. School fees are too expensive and many parents, fearing for their daughters' safety, don't allow them to walk the long distances to one of the few schools in the region.

Your gift gives a young woman the opportunity to attend “La Universidad” to earn a high school diploma and technical degree, a gift that will bless her and her entire community.
